Bad Assessing Means Higher Millage Rate

You can't have government without taxation, and the main support of local government all over America is the property tax. There are just two factors that control the dollar tax against your property: The assessed valuation, fixed by the Tax Assessor's office; and the millage rate, which you vote on in an election.

If the Tax Assessor, either for political reasons or by sheer neglect, lets the assessing base go down, then, year after year, you will be called upon to pay higher millage rates.

The evidence of this truth is everywhere, locally and throughout Arkansas. When your editor came to Hope 33 years ago the local school millage was 18, the maximum then fixed by the state constitution. But later on we did two things: (1) Abolished the 18-mill ceiling; and (2) enacted a state sales tax to give state-aid to the schools. The net effect was to relieve the pressure to maintain an adequate assessing base — and as local tax revenue slipped the millage rate went up.

From 18 mills the Hope School District has gone to 35, and there are districts in Arkansas which levy nearly 60 mills.

Twice this newspaper and the district voters have turned down a request for an increase to 40 mills. In 1958 the organization of real estate firms here suggested, and this newspaper endorsed, a plan to reassess property — and this plan was accepted by the Hope District Board. It netted $16,000 additional tax in the first year, helping to avoid the 5-mill tax hike.

But the reassessment program was not followed up, and the 5-mill tax hike was again offered last December. After the people turned it down this newspaper urged that the reassessment program be revived; the School Board agreed — only to discover that the man now in the Tax Assessor's office, Carter Sutton, refused to accept this assistance.

In his statement of February 8, 1962, Mr. Sutton told the School Board:

"Believing in the honesty and integrity of the taxpayers of Hempstead County and that they will make an honest and fair assessment of their property, I can not, as Tax Assessor of Hempstead County, lend any endorsement to your policy."

The fact is, perhaps a score of Arkansas counties have handed reassessment programs, with notable success — but they had the Tax Assessor with them, not against them!

Reassessment programs were put through in — to name a few — Pulaski, Union, Columbia, and Miller; and I believe they are being maintained on a continuing basis. In Miller County, for instance, the assessing base was raised from 13½ millions to 20 millions.

You get tax money from either a fair assessing base or an increased millage rate. Miller County had the option of either reassessing its property or voting an additional millage. If the tax on everyone had gone up 5 mills it would have been due, of course, to the fact that there was 6½ millions of property value that was paying no tax at all.

Is that going to happen to us, here in Hempstead? It will unless we get a new Tax Assessor in the courthouse.

Carter Sutton has had his chance. He's declared himself.

Vote him out of office next Tuesday.

Campaigning Is Hazardous

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — O. A. Wilson can attest that campaigning in a rural Illinois county has its hazards.

Wilson, a Democrat running for re-election as Jersey county superintendent of schools, said Thursday he has been bitten by three dogs and chased by a turkey gobbler in his door-to-door campaign.

But, he said, the attacks seem to be non-partisan. Two of the dogs were owned by Democrats and one by a Republican.

Wilson didn't learn the party affiliation of the gobbler's owner. "I didn't stick around long enough to find out," he said. "You have to be chased by one to understand."

Lightning Helps the Kids Out

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Lightning struck a pear tree in the village of Medvedja and killed a fierce watch dog tied there to keep children from picking the fruit.

Just before the bolt hit, the newspaper Borba said, 17 children sought shelter under the tree but the dog scared them off. The children were unharmed.

Envoy to Arms Talks Called in by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today the temporary recall of the U.S. representative at the Geneva disarmament conference to consult on atomic tests.

The announcement followed a new scientific data on detecting 1½-hour meeting of President Kennedy with top disarmament advisers at which, authoritative sources said, the President reached no final decision on whether to ease U.S. terms for an atomic test ban treaty.

But indications were that the U.S. policymakers were preparing to change the U.S. stand by scaling down the anticheating safeguards it has been demanding for any nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviets.

The White House statement said:

"Nuclear test ban deliberations: The President has reviewed the new technical findings on test detection with his principal advisers."

"He has asked for certain supplemental assessments."

"In addition, Ambassador (Arthur H.) Dean (chief U.S. negotiator in Geneva disarmament talks) is returning from Geneva for consultation in the early part of next week and will return to Geneva by the end of the week."

"It is expected he will return to Geneva prepared to discuss the meaning of the new data and their significance for our continuing attempt to bring about a cessation of nuclear testing."

It is understood Dean is to return to Washington by Monday if possible.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said that, at the White House session today, attended by the heads of the principal federal agencies interested or their representatives, there was "no substantial disagreement" voiced.

According to some published accounts, some federal officials favored relaxing the previous U.S. demand for control posts—atomic explosion listening stations — inside Russia, while others were against this.

The Soviets have objected to any atomic test ban policing system that would intrude into Russian territory.

Informants said that the majority opinion in a meeting Thursday of policymakers at the State Department was against dropping the control post requirement at this time, although some presidential advisers reportedly favored such action.

Morrilton Feud Coming to Showdown

By JOHN R. STARR

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Conway County's bitter political feud, which erupted 18 months ago in a dispute over city manager government for Morrilton, comes to a head in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

For the first time in 10 years in this predominantly rural county of 15,000, Sheriff Marlin Hawkins finds himself with an opponent.

The election is a test of strength between Hawkins' court house faction and the Conway County Better Government League, a small but vocal organization which sprang from the nucleus of a committee which promoted city manager government.

The fight, however, has been principally between Hawkins, a 22-year veteran in county politics, and Gene Wirges, editor of the weekly Morrilton Democrat. Wirges is not a member of the Better Government League, but he has emerged as its spokesman.

Wirges and the league contend Hawkins is an iron-fisted political dictator who uses fear as a weapon to make his weight felt at every level of county government. Hawkins counters that Wirges' main interest is in building circulation and revenue for what Hawkins calls a "faltering newspaper."

The league represents the first serious challenge to Hawkins' political position since 1950 when he first was elected sheriff after six years as circuit clerk and four years as treasurer.

Incumbents in Conway County traditionally have had little or no opposition. This year all positions except circuit clerk and state representative are contested.

Hawkins says the league rounded up the opposition candidates and even paid filing fees for some. Continued on Page Two

PTA Mass Meeting at 7:30 o'Clock Tonight to Hear Assessor Candidates

The Hope P. T. A. Council issues an invitation to the public as a whole, and especially parents of school children or pre-school children, to attend a meeting at Hope Senior High School auditorium at 7:30 tonight, July 27, to hear all candidates for County Tax Assessor express their views as to the reassessment program for the benefit of the schools.

This issue is one of vital importance to the future of education for the youth of Hempstead County. Your vote in the forthcoming Democratic primary is of extreme importance at this time.

The PTA Council does not endorse any candidate. But it does believe in an open statement by candidates so that the public may make its decision. This quotation is from the PTA Manual: "The Parent-Teacher organization takes a stand on principles and issues, not on candidates or political parties."

We therefore issue an invitation, by this notice, to all candidates for the office of Tax Assessor to meet with us and state their case.

We urge again that the public be present.

Valuable Paintings Are Recovered

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard raided a house in East London today and recovered 35 valuable paintings stolen two weeks ago in Britain's biggest art theft.

The police seized two men they found in bed. They were charged with receiving the stolen paintings.

The paintings, valued at from $75,000 to $1 million were taken July 11 from the walls of the O'Hana Gallery, a dealer in Mayfair.

They included 10 Renoirs and works by Monet, Toulouse Lautrec, Fiesco and Bonnard.

Lands Safely on Three Engines

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — A U.S. Air Force Flying Boxcar cargo plane bringing relief supplies to Moscow touched down safely on three engines at Kastrup Airport today while firetrucks stood by.

The pilot, Col. James Morris, said: "We lost a generator over Riga in the Soviet Union and shut off the engine in the interest of safety."

The plane carried Thompson, his wife and their three daughters, and several tons of luggage.

Little New as Candidates Keep Up Pace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, appearing on a seven-station television hookup, said Thursday night he would not seek re-election if his current campaign for a fifth term is successful.

Former Gov. Sid McMath, Vernon Whitten and Kenneth Coffelt also went on television. But only the incumbent governor had statewide coverage.

Alford spoke Thursday night at Camden where he joined his touring quartet in singing one song. David A. Cox spent most of Thursday campaigning in the southeast part of the state.

And another voice was injected into the heightening campaign as the Capital Citizens Council announced a series of radio broadcasts to show why it split with Faubus.

The governor, apparently taking a cue from Whitten, had a panel of newsmen on his hour and 40-minute telecast, with viewers invited to telephone in questions.

Newsmen — panelists were Perrin Jones of Searcy, Ted Larimer of Green Forest and Keith Tudor of Arkadelphia.

Previously, Whitten used a similar format in programs at El Dorado, Fort Smith and Jonesboro.

Faubus repeated his reason for entering the race for a fifth term after once bowing out, saying he had been given the green light by doctors and also was influenced by petitions from the people.

Faubus, in reply to a question, charged that Alford switched sides during the 1957 integration crises and that McMath had a hand in inviting federal troops to the state.

He said Alford, as a member of the Little Rock School Board, originally voted for a plan of gradual integration but changed his mind after discovering how much public opposition there was.

Alford told a crowd estimated at 500 who gathered on the courthouse lawn at Camden that this is a crusade rather than a political campaign.

It is crusade, the Little Rock congressman said, for constitutional government.

Alford charged that the incumbent governor had cheated welfare recipients by withholding federal funds from them until he was ready to open his campaign.

He also told his audience he is tired of teachers being used and promised relief for them by seeking more state funds for salaries.

Before closing his talk, Alford joined his quartet in singing "How Great Thou Art."

Vernon Whitten also continued the attack on Faubus in a 15-minute telecast where he contends that he is the only one who can marshal the votes to defeat the governor in a runoff.

He reiterated a previously lodged charge that Faubus "has either used, misused or abused more public officials than all the former governors in the history of the state."

GE Settles Suit for $7.4 Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Electric Co. has agreed to pay record $7.4 million to settle conviction of the company in a price-fixing case, the Justice Department announced today.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the settlement includes payment of $6.47 million to the Tennessee Valley Authority in damages for inflated prices paid to GE as a result of the price-fixing conspiracy.

Another million will go to the government for purchases from General Electric by other government agencies, Kennedy said.

Justice Department officials said the previous record settlement in a case of this type was $41,000 from the Ward Baking Co. last May.

General Electric was one of 19 defendants in 11 civil damage suits filed by the government since March 1961. Attempts are under way to negotiate settlements with other defendants, Kennedy said.

Absentee voting apparently is running about the same as in the 1960 Arkansas gubernatorial primary, an Associated Press spot check showed today.

Monday is the last day to file absentee ballots to be counted in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Some counties, including populous Pulaski, were running behind the 1960 total. But many were recording about the same number of ballots as in 1960.

Absentee voting is considered one way of gauging in advance whether the actual vote turnout will be light or heavy. In 1960, 407,183 voters turned out and Gov. Orval E. Faubus got 238,997 of the votes.

A candidate needs more than 50 per cent of the total primary vote to avoid a runoff.

Pulaski County had recorded about 900 absentee ballots today. The total for the 1960 primary was 2,500. County Clerk R. S. Peters said he expected more later today and Monday.

Union County, which recorded 769 absentee ballots in 1960, had 550 today and officials said the balloting was running about the same.

Absentee balloting in Ouchita County was described as "very vigorous" by County Clerk Powell Gamill. About 400 ballots were sent out, the same number as 1960, and most of them already have been returned, he said.

Washington County Clerk Paul Davis said absentee balloting started slowly but has picked up and is expected to be about normal. The average is 300 and 236 ballots had been cast today.

Absentee voting was higher in Pope County, but that may have been because 200 National Guardsmen leave Saturday for summer camp.

The total so far is 320 and 130 of those were from Guardsmen. The average is 200 votes.

In Faulkner County, 116 ballots had been cast of 400 applied for. In 1960, 750 absentee ballots were cast.

Arkansas County is split into two districts. In the northern district, Deputy County Clerk Troy Pfeiffer said he had sent out 41, half as many as two years ago, but had 12 more requests. In the southern district, County Clerk Bill Norsworthy said he had 70 requests compared with 100 two years ago.

"At the rate we're going now we'll have as many as two years ago," he said.

In Miller County, voting was heavier than in 1960. About 300 absentee ballots were cast today, compared to a total of 200 last year. But National Guardsmen figured in the Miller County vote, too.

Columbia County Clerk Talmadge Whitlow said he had 282 applications, about the same as other elections.

Jefferson County Clerk Alan Shepherd said 427 ballots had been cast and 75 more were expected today and 100 Monday. This would make a total of slightly more than 600, and 653 were cast in 1960.

In Sebastian County close to 400 had been cast and 500 were expected, about as usual said Clerk Herman Jones.

In Crawford County, 100 ballots had been cast and Clerk Frank Brewer said he expected a total of 300, about the same as in the 1960 election.

Independence County reported 240 absentee ballots and said slightly more than 300 were cast in 1960.

Crittenden County had counted 76 absentee ballots today and expected 100. Eighty-three were cast in 1960.

Phillips County reported 450 in hand, compared with 635 in all in the 1960 election. Deputy Clerk Ina Taylor said the voting was average.

Marion County Deputy Clerk Sue Dodd said 200 ballots were sent out, 75 have been returned so far, about the same average as in 1960.

Polk County reported 250 votes cast, a little slower return than in 1960, when the total was 400.

Drew County Clerk Fay Stephenson said 92 had been cast today and that 222 were cast in all in 1960.

Garland County had 210 returned by Friday morning, and clerk Fred W. Shelton said balloting was not as active as two years ago.

Charges Racial Issue Used as Tool by Faubus

By BILL SIMMONS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three of Arkansas' most outspoken segregationists said today Gov. Orval E. Faubus uses race mixing as a political tool, that he has vacillated on the integration question and that he has failed the segregationist cause.

Amis Guthridge, Rev. Wesley Pruden and Dr. Malcolm Taylor went on radio broadcasts to denounce Faubus. They promised more broadcasts up until the Democratic primary next Tuesday.

Guthridge, president of the Capital Citizens Council, said since his group announced July 10 it would no longer support Faubus, the governor has branded them an extremist group.

"If Mr. Faubus means by extremists that we are sincere in believing in separation of the races he is correct," Guthridge said over Little Rock radio station KTSH.

Guthridge said the segregationists saw in 1960 that Faubus had deserted "the principles he solemnly promised us were his back in July of 1957."

"Our position," Guthridge said, "has been steadfast and consistent and it will remain so for all time to come."

Pruden charged that Dollarway School at Pine Bluff was integrated in 1960 because Faubus refused to halt integration.

"Virgil Blossom didn't integrate Dollarway," Pruden said. "The paratroopers didn't integrate Dollarway. The Justice Department didn't integrate Dollarway. The governor's State Police did it."

Pruden said Faubus is a segregationist only when he wants to be, or when he finds it politically expedient.

Faubus protected the school board during the Little Rock integration crisis, Pruden said, because as long as the board was moderate or integrationist the governor could keep the racial issue alive.

A strong segregationist board could have won the fight, but Faubus was too jealous to permit this, Pruden said.

Taylor said Faubus brought about the closure of the T. J. Roney High School, which was formed as a private white school to avoid race mixing but closed after one year.

Faubus killed the school, Taylor said, not because it was a failure, but because it was a success.

All three men said segregationists would not look to Faubus for support in the future, nor would they support him in the upcoming election.

Guthridge said the council is not yet ready to endorse any candidate, but he made it plain Faubus is not his choice for governor.

Baptists to End Revival on Sunday

Evangelist Larry Taylor, who wipes sweat from his brow nightly despite the big air-conditioned auditorium of the First Baptist Church, got hot again last night with his sermon topic of "The Curse of the Law."

Delegations from Emmet, Prescott, Washington, Fulton and other communities swelled the crowd to the largest of the revival campaign which comes to a close Sunday with announced goals of 1000 in Sunday school and a packed auditorium for the preaching service.

"Blessed Assurance" is the sermon topic for Friday night. Saturday night has been designated "Bring a Friend Night" when the evangelist will preach on the topic of "This Old House."

Appeal to All Youths
A special invitation was issued to the Youth of Hope to be in attendance Saturday night with 23 pupils embracing the entire south seating section of the auditorium being reserved for the youth of Hope.

"I want them all here, juniors, intermediates, young people, today and that 222 were cast in all in 1960."

Garland County had 210 returned by Friday morning, and clerk Fred W. Shelton said balloting was not as active as two years ago.

of them. The league said the candidides filed voluntarily. Officially, the league endorses no one but individual league members are unashamedly supporting opposition candidates. Wirges' newspaper office serves as a clearing house for information.

The league is guardedly optimistic about its chances of overthrowing Hawkins. Hawkins says he is more annoyed by than concerned about the league.

"They aren't hurting me politically," he says. "I'll get as many votes as I ever did. But all this publicity is hurting my county and I resent that."

So far the league has not won a round in the controversy. A grand jury, convened to hear league charges of irregularity in the city manager election, returned no true bills. Circuit Judge Audrey Straff rejected a suit challenging the list of eligible voters.
The Democratic Central Committee refused to consider a league-backed request that opposition candidates be allowed to select one election official in each precinct.

Hawkins, 49, has the advantage of being a Conway County native and lifelong resident. Wirges, 35, moved to Morrilton when he bought the Democrat after four years as city editor of the Paradise Press.

Both are family men. Hawkins has three children. Wirges four with a fifth on the way.

Hawkins admits he has "considerable influence" in county politics but he contends it is based on friendship and personal loyalty, rather than fear.

Wirges charges Hawkins manipulates votes, threatens state, county and city employees and welfare clients and uses other power tactics to retain control.

In his newspaper Wirges has published a string of statistics on how the cost of county government has risen under Hawkins.
Hawkins counters that costs everywhere have risen within the past 12 years and his costs are in line with other counties of similar size.

On vote manipulating, Wirges said the Better Government League cited case after case of irregularities for the grand jury.
The jury agreed there had been "minor irregularities on both sides" but it found there was no criminal intent to violate the law.

"As long as you've got human beings running elections, there will be minor irregularities," Hawkins says. "Humans aren't perfect. But I can win an election in this county without stealing any votes."

Wirges argues that, for the first time, Hawkins is in danger of losing and that the sheriff has taken the necessary steps to insure victory.

He expressed thanks to the press and radio which has been and also expressed his appreciation to loyal church members who have not missed a service.

"Curse of the Law"
Taking this text from Galatians, chapter three, verse 10, the young evangelist declared:

"God gave the law to man so that he could label it as such—but man was incapable of keeping it for the Bible says that all have sinned and have come short of the seed of the controversy was sown when Hawkins and other county politicians worked to defeat the city manager proposal.

Wirges says it was the first time the county organization had interfered in a city affair and "we realized something had to be done."

Hawkins says he entered the city manager fight in self-defense.
"The city manager group was telling everybody that after they took over the city they would clean up the county, starting with me. I feed my family with this job. When a man's job is in danger, he has to act."

The league's most recent charge is that Hawkins is illegally soliciting absentee votes by mailing a filled-out application for an absentee ballot to some of his supporters.

Hawkins frankly admits he is angry after the absentee vote.
"They're just mad because they can't do the same thing," he says.
"I know everybody in the county and, if I know somebody is going to be away on election day, I want his vote."

The most spectacular development in the controversy came when Hawkins, acting in his official capacity as sheriff, advertised Wirges' newspaper for sale to satisfy a $11,400 judgment against Wirges.

The sale was averted when Dr.
Stanley Gutowski of Perryville purchased the judgment. Wirges promptly filed a $150,000 damage suit against Hawkins, alleging the sheriff was using his office to persecute Wirges.

"When the writ of execution on the judgment was issued, it was my duty to proceed with the sale," Hawkins says. "I knew Gene would criticize me, but my duty came first. Gene's financial problems are of his own making, not mine."

Hawkins appears to take the controversy philosophically, but many of his supporters are bitter.
"Gene Wirges has been pictured as a white knight and Marlin as the villain in this thing," says Mrs. Hawkins, a staunch defender of her husband. "It should be the other way around."

Members of the Better Government League disagree vehemently.

dealt with money Faubus is spending in the campaign. "The only thing that can save him McMath commented, is for 'The good people to stay away from the polls on election day.'"

At a rally in Greenbrier, sponsored by the local Parent-Teachers Association, McMath concentrated on the highway and county road program.

Although no other gubernatorial candidates appeared in person at the rally, J. Orville Cheney spoke for Faubus while young David Whitten performed similar duties for his father.

Kenneth Coffelt, in an hour-long telecast at Fort Smith, also discussed the state roads, saying he would appoint C. F. Byrns, editor of the Southwest American in Fort Smith, to the state Highway Commission, along with two representatives from south Arkansas.

Coffelt charged that the present highway system is in bad shape because McMath, during his term as governor, appointed Faubus to head the commission and Faubus couldn't do the job.

The Little Rock attorney again confidently took the position that he is the only Faubus opponent who can gather the strength to defeat the governor in a runoff.

He pointed out that Alford back-ers wouldn't vote for McMath and McMath supporters likewise would ignore the congressman, should either make the Aug. 14 runoff.

Coffelt has another television appearance scheduled for tonight, with stops at Greenwood, Waldron and Ashdown coming before the telecast from Texarkana.

The segregationists Citizens Council, headed by Amis Guthridge, was to initiate its anti-Faubus broadcasts early today over station KTHS in Little Rock.

Among topics to be aired, Guthridge said, would be "startling" aspects of the governor's connection with the Little Rock School Board during the 1957 integration crisis.

Appearing on the program along with Guthridge will be Dr. Malcolm Taylor and the Rev. Wesley Pruden, two of Little Rock's most outspoken segregationists.

Election Involves Our Industrial Growth

In two recent recessions, one in 1958-59, the other in 1961, Arkansas has been one of the brighter spots on the nation's economic map. The main reason was the state's industrial growth, its opening of new plants and expanding some we had.

Nothing could more vividly dramatize the need and the value of our program for industrial expansion.

Its leaders started out, as you know, to balance our agriculture with industry. They can point to the fact that in the broad, over-all state picture, our manufacturing employment has doubled in 10 years, and that in 1961, for the first time in our history, factory payrolls and profits exceeded farm income.

It should be cheering to every Arkansan that our industrial gains are a triumph over competition for payrolls with many other states and even with foreign countries.
This should encourage us to the best we can do to attract more payrolls.

There's no place in this program where you can let down. Either you forge ahead with the sustained national advance, or you slip back.

Especially to that point is the need of being watchful in this election year to select legislators and a governor who will make wise use of the political power which can improve or impair our generally good industrial climate.

A big favorable factor has been our pre-eminently conservative state government. We've had a measure of the nationwide over-taxing and overspending, but we've avoided the zooming expenditures and debts which have caused industries to leave some states—we got one or two of these plants.

Conservative government in this country has declined.
Strong spending groups clamor for increased state funds and functions. We, the voters, need an election outcome in our own state which will hold to our essentially conservative state government—which will keep this basis of our progress, industrially and otherwise.

Promises are easily made, but often impossible to fulfill.

Much political and everyday wisdom is packed in the old fable of the dog crossing a brook on a log who dropped the bone in his mouth to leap for its bigger shadow in the water.

Calendar

Monday, July 30

Due to the revival services, the Ann Wollerman Circle meeting of the First Baptist church has been postponed until Monday, July 30.

The Jett B. Graves Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will have a potluck supper at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. B. W. Edwards. Assisting will be Mrs. Irene Foster and Mrs. Rachel Edmiston.

Mrs. John Thomas Connell was surprised on July 20 by Mrs. Gail Sinyard, Mrs. Aaron Cross, Mrs. Don Collier, Mrs. Lester Boyce, and Mrs. Lloyd Turner with a "pink and blue" shower at the Turner home in Springfield.

The guest of honor was given a clever corsage which used the theme of the blessed event. Seasonal flowers decorated the home, where members of the Young Adult Sunday School class gathered.

Games were played with appropriate prizes. Frosted punch, cake, and nuts were served to 20.

The many nice gifts Mrs. Connell received will be most useful in the near future.

Bride-elect Feted

At Luncheon
Bride-elect Miss Sheila Foster was feted with a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday, July 24 at the home of Miss Linda Rushton in Magnolia. Both the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Vincent W. Foster, received pretty corsages of white crinkles.

A pink color scheme was used in the decorations for the three-course luncheon. Pink asters centered the table, and each of the places was marked with white wedding bells, pink ribbon, and lilies of the valley. The 14 guests included Miss Sharon Foster of Hope, sister of the bride-elect.

Homemakers Meet

The Homemakers Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, July 24 in the home of Mrs. Ernest Ridgill. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Ridgill, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Velma Collier led the group in singing "In the Good Old Summertime." The roll call was answered by 11 members who told "The Craziest Thing I've Ever Done." They also discussed and made plans for a Watermelon Party in August at Fair Park.

The hostess gave as the Eye Opener "Making a Refrigerator Deodorizer" from Charcoal. "Wills, Taxes and Legal Documents" was the program brought by Mrs. Dick Beggs. Mrs. Collier gave a report on the Health Unit course on Medical Self-Help and also gave helpful information on "Walking for Your Health."

Mrs. Ralph Montgomery won the door prize. Cookies and punch were served to the members and four guests, Diane and Sandy May, Sandra McCorkle, and Mrs. Vera Torbert.

Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous bridal shower for Miss Bobbie Rae Garrett was held in the Woodman Hall on Wednesday evening, July 18 by Mrs. Roy Foster, Mrs. Hugh Garrett, Mrs. Jerry Garrett, Mrs. George House, and Mrs. Burgess Garrett. The honoree, the bride-elect of Donald Brown, wore a pale blue eyelet embroidered dress and had a white corsage of fleur d'amour. Roses decorated the hall, where several games were played.

Many lovely and useful gifts were received by the guest of honor. Cookies and cold drinks were served to 25 guests during the refreshment hour.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. Gordon Bayless entertained her bridge club on Tuesday evening, July 24, and she used colorful zinnias as decoration in her home. Two club guests were Mrs. O. T. Cranford and Miss Ford, and the prize for second high Mary Roy Moses.

The high scorer was Mrs. Cranford to Mrs. Lloyd Guerin. Mrs. Homer Jones won the game prize. Ice cream and cookies were served for refreshments.

This Husband Won't Stay Home

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You helped me once. Can you do it again? My current problem is a galling husband. Seven nights out of seven, I'm stuck at home with our two children while he blithely dashes about on so-called business.

Being a potential Tarzan, he plays basketball, baseball and golf. In addition, bowls and does a bit of amateur boxing. This calls for attendance of bowling matches and prize fights. He also enjoys religion — goes to Sunday morning and evening services; sings in the choir and holds sundry church offices.

Before we married I went to most of these places with him, cheering from the sidelines when he took part. Now, since we cannot afford a baby sitter, I must stay home with the kids.

I belong to a woman's organization which meets once a month but have trouble attending because there is bound to be a conflict with one of my husband's many activities. We have talked this problem over many times but have got nowhere.

He loves our children yet feels they are mainly his responsibility and shouldn't interfere with his way of life. I realize that he needs some relaxation but feel he ought to be home at night more often than away. What is your opinion? — Lonely

Dear Lonely: It should be your husband's pleasure, and is also his duty to be with you in the evening. But to make an issue of it will get you nowhere. Since he behaves like an adolescent, you've got to treat him as one. Set the stage, as it were, to please him. Train the children (if you haven't already) to go to sleep early; see that the house is attractive and supply the entertainment or activity he seeks elsewhere.

If you have a basement, convert it into a recreation room for him and his sports-minded friends. His family and yours might chip in for things like a miniature putting green, ping pong table and punching bag. If not, you and he could save toward them.

Encourage him to make athletes of the children. That will entertain him and them. Learn to play the accompaniment for his songs. The children might join in here too.

Your husband has let habit get him — rushing here, rushing there, ever on the go. By shifting most of his extra-curricular activities to the home, you will gradually get him out of the galling habit. I am sure he loves you. It's just that he doesn't know how to stop being a whirling dervish.

Dear Helen: I am afraid of marriage! My first one ended in divorce. The grounds were incom-

Cancer Cause is Discussed

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—The odd distribution of a kind of tumor among children in a mosquito belt of tropical Africa supports the theory that at least some human cancers are caused by microbes, it was reported today.

This cancer in Africa occurs almost exclusively in a broad belt cutting across the tropics from the east to the west coast of the continent—the very belt that is the haunt of certain mosquitoes and of other insects called "leishmaniasis," a Uganda doctor reported to the Eighth International Cancer Congress now in session here.

Dr. D. H. Wright of Kampala said he believes the disease is caused by some still unidentified virus which may be carried by insects in the area.

He described the tumor as a lymphoma, a cancerous process involving the lymph system.

It's a disease found most often in children 3 to 6 years old. In most victims, the cancer primarily affects the jaw, but also may affect the kidneys, adrenal glands, liver, ovaries, testicles, thyroid and part of the abdomen.

"The tumor is not confined to African children," the doctor said, explaining that Asians and Euro-

Decentralization Favored Strongly

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Dr. George W. Jackson said Wednesday night he strongly favors decentralization of State Hospital facilities.

Jackson, who is president of the institution, told a Hot Springs civic club he favored establishment of two more state hospital locations so many persons in need of treatment could be out patients.

This, Jackson said, would remove the need of separating patients from work and family.

Jackson said funds now were available to replace all but about 400 of the beds at the hospital's Little Rock unit.

"Instead of having all these beds at Little Rock," Jackson said, "I would favor placing 100 beds in each of four locations over the state."

He said the locations would have to be near adequate hospital facilities and trained personnel to provide full treatment.

Success Seems to Be Building at Cincinnati

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The aura of success seems to be building again at Cincinnati, where the rebounding Reds have reeled off nine consecutive victories and inched toward the top in defense of their National League pennant.

Fred Hutchinson's crew beat Pittsburgh 5-3 Thursday night and climbed within a game of the third-place Pirates.

Milwaukee's Braves also continued at a red-hot pace in the only other NL game scheduled Thursday as Warren Spahn scattered eight hits in a 6-1 triumph over New York that sent the Mets down to their 11th straight setback.

In the only American League action, the first-place New York Yankees walloped Boston 13-3 and the Chicago White Sox belted Washington 7-1.

The Pirates got off to a 1-0 lead against the Reds when Bob Skinner homered in the first inning, but Jerry Lynch came back with a two-run home run in the bottom half that sent Cincinnati ahead to stay.

Frank Robinson's run-producing single and a two-run homer by Gordie Coleman in the fifth wrapped it up for the Reds and Johnny Klippstein (2-1).

Spahn (10-11), 41, struck out five Mets and moved into seventh place on the all-time list with 2,274, surpassing the 2,271 fanned by Lefty Grove. He also hit his first homer. Hank Aaron hit his 27th homer in support of Spahn, who lost his bid for shutout No. 5 when Jim Hickman singled and Marv Throneberry doubled with two out in the eighth.

German Measles Virus Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Identification of the virus that causes German measles was announced Thursday by the U.S. Public Health Service, raising hopes for development of an immunization program.

The new virus was isolated by Drs. John L. Sever and Gilbert M. Schiff, scientists connected with a collaborative project of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

They tested five groups of military recruits and children infected with rubella, commonly called German measles, in different geographical areas and isolated the new virus from 82 per cent of the patients. When cultivated and administered to volunteers, the virus was found to cause rubella.

Yankees Jump on Boston in 13 to 3 Rout

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees has a problem that would be welcomed by every other manager in the major leagues.

What's he gonna do with Tony Kubek?

The versatile Kubek, the Yankees' regular shortstop last season and rated by many of his teammates as the best outfielder on the team, is scheduled to be released from military duty Wednesday and rejoin the American League leaders a week from today.

And he's going to be a problem. He's much too good to be kept off the team, but it's going to be difficult to find a spot for him.

It's all the fault of Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez.

The switch-hitting Tresh, who won Kubek's vacated shortstop job after a friendly battle with Phil Linz, is performing afield in a fashion that makes him a top contender for rookie of the year honors. He's currently hitting .279 and has a 1 game hitting string going.

The veteran Lopez suddenly has taken hold in left field, long a trouble spot for the Yankees, has snapped out of the batting slump that plagued him last season and is showing rapid improvement in his defensive play. He's hitting .284.

Each continued his hot hitting in Thursday's 13-3 rout of the Boston Red Sox. Tresh contributed his ninth homer of the season and a single while Lopez drove in two runs with a double and a single.

Chicago gained fifth place with a 7-1 victory over Washington in the only other AL game scheduled.

Veteran Jeffy Warren Spahn posted his 319th career victory in leading Milwaukee over the New York Mets 6-1. Cincinnati won its ninth straight, 5-3 against Pittsburgh in the only other National League game scheduled.

The Yanks knocked off the Red Sox' Gene Conley with an eighth-run third inning and built their American League lead to three full games over idle Los Angeles.

Clete Boyer's two-run homer climaxed the big inning. Conley (9-10) forced in two runs with bases loaded walks and gave up two-run doubles to Elston Howard and Dale Long.

Bob Johnson's solo homer in the ninth prevented Chicago's Ray Herbert (10-6) from gaining his first shutout of the season.

The White Sox jumped on Washington's Benjie Daniels (4-11) for two runs in the first, two more in the second and Al Smith's two-run homer in the sixth, snapping Daniels' three-game winning string.

They got their first pair on an error, Nellie Fox' double and a single by Floyd Robinson. A hit batsman, Mike Hershberger's double, Herbert's single and a ground out provided two more in the second.

The 63.8 million square miles of the Pacific Ocean could easily absorb all the continents of the world.

Facts About Other State Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

NATHAN GORDON, 47, has the longest tenure of any state constitutional officer. He first was elected lieutenant governor in 1946, entering politics after a distinguished Navy career which saw him win the Congressional Medal of Honor in World War II. He frequently has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, but he has consistently denied that he aspires to a higher office. He was elected without opposition in the five campaigns before 1960, when he beat a Little Rock opponent easily. Gordon practices law in Marionville when he is not presiding over the Senate.

WALLACE HURLEY, 55, filed for lieutenant governor after flirting with the governor's race. He owns a printing firm at Camden and politics is a new field for him. A native of Warren, Hurley worked for newspapers in Camden and published the Paris Express, a weekly, from 1929-39. He started his present business in 1940. He is a past president of the Camden Chamber of Commerce. Mr. and Mrs. Hurley have two children.

SECRETARY OF STATE
MILTON J. WILLIS, 49, is running for secretary of state on eight years experience as a state representative from Crawford County. He has never lost a political race, starting in 1940 when he won the first of two terms as alderman at Van Buren. He resigned as general manager of the Van Buren Press-Argus, a weekly newspaper, to devote full time to his campaign.

KELLY BRYANT, 52, is seeking his first political office. He has been executive secretary of the Arkansas Sheriff's Association for 11 years and earlier he was a newspaper publisher in Hope, his home town. He is married and has one daughter.

AVON PHILLIPS, 40, of Lonoke was Lonoke County clerk for six years and his wife now holds that position. Phillips has worked on the state land office for many years.

CARROLL (BULL) DURNHAM, 51, of Wynne, is a funeral home operator. He was one of the original members of the State Police and served for four years as assistant director. He and Mrs. Durnham have one daughter.

ATTORNEY GENERAL
BRUCE BENNETT, 44, was attorney general for four years before he made an unsuccessful race for governor in 1960. He ran for attorney general after four years as Union County prosecutor. A native of Helena, he has lived most of his life at El Dorado. Twenty years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate against C. G. Crip Hall for secretary of state. Bennett and his wife have two children.

SAM BOYCE, 30, got his first political experience as an aide to the subject of weeks of speculation. Wilbur Mills from 1957-61. He then as a potential gubernatorial left Mills to join Atty. Gen. Frank Holt. Holt served three terms. Holt's staff in January, 1961. He as Pulaski County prosecutor be-is a native of Tuckerman and a University of Arkansas law graduate. He is married and has one child.

DAVE WITT, 53, has never sought public office before. He has been a practicing attorney in Little Rock since 1935. A native of Newark, he is a graduate of Port Smith High School and the University of Arkansas Law School. He is married but has no children.

THORP THOMAS, 38, of Little Rock, has been an assistant attorney general for 9½ years, serving under T. J. Gentry, Bruce Bennett and Frank Holt. He made the highest score on the January, 1951, bar examination. He is married and has five children.

STATE TREASURER
NANCY (MRS. CRIP) HALL, 51, is the only woman seeking a major state office. She is running for treasurer after two years as an appointive secretary of state. She was named to succeed her late husband, who was elected secretary of state 13 times. She was Hall's chief assistant during most of his career.

J. H. (JOHNNY) MITCHUM, 49, was a state representative from Independence County in 1939-40 and made an unsuccessful race against State Sen. Robert Harvey two years ago. He is married and has two sons.

STATE AUDITOR
JIMMIE (RED) JONES, 42, is seeking a fourth term as state auditor. He first ran for the job in 1956 after two years as an appointee in the land commissioner's post. He entered politics in 1950, running for tax collector in Columbia County. He won, was re-elected in 1952 and won a third term in 1954. He was named Magnolia's man of the year in 1955. Before he became a public servant, he worked for radio stations in Magnolia and Camden.

Planet to Venus Try Is Pushed

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

The nation's space agency pushed ahead today with plans to launch a second spacecraft to the planet Venus while technicians and engineers probed the failure of the first attempt.

The United States' initial effort to propel a vehicle to explore Venus failed early Sunday. The Atlas-Agena B booster rocket strayed off course and was destroyed nearly 100 miles above the Atlantic Ocean by the range safety officer. The electronic signal that killed the rocket was flashed 290 seconds after launching.

Flaming wreckage of the $8 million-rocket and $4 million-Mariner 1 payload plummeted into the sea. The spacecraft had been ticketed for a 139-day interplanetary journey designed to take it within 10,000 miles of the cloudshrouded Venus next Dec. 8.

Even before data could be analyzed to determine exactly what went wrong, crews started preparing the launching pad for another Atlas-Agena B and the Mariner 2 payload.

Time was the deciding factor in moving forward before data from the first shot had been completely analyzed. Venus comes into favorable shooting range only every 19 months and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration does not want to pass up an opportunity to send a spacecraft close to it to start an extensive program of planetary exploration.

The present 50-day favorable period extends through Sept. 10. A minimum of 24 days is required to prepare for another firing and officials indicated the Mariner 1 failure probably will add to that time while adjustments are made on the Atlas' first stage to assure the trouble is not repeated.

The difficulty was in the Atlas. Preliminary information indicated a flight control problem that apparently pitched the rocket nose down instead of straight up. A successful Mariner launching

Drug May Have Seen U. S. Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner George P. Larrick of the Food and Drug Administration said today some American women took a drug now believed to have caused thousands of birth malformations in Europe.

"We now know that the drug was used by quite a number of doctors, but we do not know in what amounts," Larrick told a reporter.

"From what I have been told the chances seem to be small that many American women received the drug at what appears to be the critical time—early pregnancy."

The drug, thalidomide, was kept this year could reveal composition of the Venusian atmosphere. This would help in designing the type of instrument capsule NASA plans to land on Venus in 1964.

off the U.S. prescription market when Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey, an FDA physician and pharmacologist insisted that proof of its safety was inadequate.

In seeking such approval, the manufacturer, William S. Merrell Co. of Cincinnati, distributed the drug to physicians for trials. Such tests are required by the FDA before new drugs can qualify for the general prescription market.

The firm withdrew its application when reports from Europe linked the drug to a sudden preponderance of phocomelia, babies born legless or armless or with deformed limbs. "One reassuring fact," Larrick said, "is that the experimental work on which we have seen reports was done in late pregnancy. There have also been some reports that it was used for morning sickness in this country but from what we have learned it was not tried for that in the United States."

Researchers have estimated that thalidomide, which was used as a sedative, caused 3,500 deformed births in Germany and that the number in that country may reach 6,000.

School districts were having pie suppers to raise funds to keep open schools;

The average annual salary for school teachers in Arkansas was only $1,981;

Old people could not have a cow and chickens without having their welfare funds reduced;

Old folks were being cut off welfare rolls under the cruel "Relative Responsibility Law";

Conditions at the State Hospital were shocking and disgraceful;

He floated the only bond issue since 1941;

The Governor's office ran the Highway Department;

There was no Children's Colony;

The University and state-supported colleges got less than one-half as much money per year from the State as they now receive;

He was "our Little David" to Dr. J. M. Robinson and the Negro Democratic Women's Organization;

More utility rate increases were granted than in any other comparable period of time in the State's history;

Utilities and railroads paid 55.23% less ad valorem taxes than now for the support of our schools, cities and counties!

REMEMBER, TOO, SINCE SID WAS TURNED OUT OF OFFICE he:

Has been repudiated by the voters when he tried to unseat Senator John L. McClellan;
